‘Normal family man’ jailed over child porn

■ SUCCESS! ... students and schools were celebrating another record set of A-level results last week. Among them were Castle Manor Business and Enterprise College students, from left, Sammi Efford who gained an A, two Bs and a C to secure a place at Worcester studying drama and sociology; Jake Bennett who received three As and a B, but is still exploring his options; and Chris Burge whose A, two Bs and a C will see him head to Essex to study law. See full story – Page 4.

A HAVERHILL minibus driver who was caught with hundreds of child porn images has been jailed.

Melvyn Joyce, 55, appeared on Tuesday at Ipswich Crown Court and was jailed for nine months, after pleading guilty to 17 charges at an earlier hearing.

He was found to be in possession of indecent images – both still and moving – of children after selling a laptop computer to a man who wanted it for his children to use.

Joyce had tried to blame his wife for downloading some of the images when interviewed by police and said others appeared on his computer by accident.

Prosecutor Peter Gair said children of the man who bought the computer discovered adult pornographic pictures and after taking the laptop to a computer shop to have them erased, child porn was also discovered.

That led to the police being alerted and officers, armed with a search warrant, went to Joyce's home at Mallow Walk, Haverhill on April 20 last year.

A search revealed 477 indecent images of children on a home computer, including some in the most serious categories, said Mr Gair. Nearly 100 images had been placed in specially created computer folders and renamed by Joyce and there were 27 “movies”.

Examination of the computer by an expert showed that Joyce had carried out searches for child porn on the internet using phrases including “Lolita porn” and “Child love”.

Neil Butcher, for Joyce, said his client was a man with no previous convictions and who had for 31 years led a normal family life with his wife, a child of his own and three adopted children, two of them suffering from Down's Syndrome.

Joyce owned a minibus which he used to run his own business, the future of which was uncertain as a result of the case, said Mr Butcher.

Judge Neil McKittrick said he accepted that Joyce had played a responsible role in the community in the past but the offences were so serious that only a prison sentence was appropriate.

The judge said: “Somewhere a child is being abused for the gratification of people like you.”

Rescuer Andy helps to pick up the pieces

PARAMEDIC Andy Bambridge has returned home after helping to rescue victims of the earthquake in Peru.

Andy, who is based at Haverhill Ambulance Station, was part of the expert technical team of four deployed by the search and rescue charity Rapid UK to the disaster zone.

They were sent to Pisco, in the south of Peru, where almost 80 per cent of the old city was destroyed.

And working with colleagues from Rapid LA (Latino America) they were involved in the rescue of one man from the Embassy Hotel after he was buried for 36 hours.

Rapid UK were the only team in Pisco with specialised technical search equipment but their efforts were hampered by powerful aftershocks. They helped with the mapping and co-ordination of the search at the strategic level.

Andy, 41, was the team medic and arrived back to Little Thurlow on Wednesday morning after a flight which was initially in some doubt because of the effects of another potential disaster, Hurricane Dean, that is battering another part of the Americas.

He said: "Pisco was 75 to 80 per cent destroyed. The buildings were either down or they will have to be taken down. Then a tsunami hit the town but that did not cause any deaths.

"There were agencies there from all over Latin America led by the bomberos, the firefighters.

■ IN RUINS... around 80 per cent of Pisco's old city was destroyed by the earthquake.

CP.

"Our colleagues from Rapid LA were there. We were asked to provide technical support and took all our specialised equipment.

"It was Rapid LA's first emergency and they did really well. In a perfect world we never need to go there again."

Andy was given paid time off work to travel to Peru as part of the rescue efforts. He is no stranger to disaster zones around the world – in October 2005, he spent a week in Pakistan helping to rescue earthquake victims.

He and his team rescued seven people, including a mother and her two-year-old son, from the ruins of an apartment block in Islamabad.

Using specialist training, skills and expertise, Rapid UK teams have attended earthquakes, floods and hurricanes in more than 24 countries, as well as floods and other disasters in the UK.

All members are volunteers and give up their time to train and to offer assistance around the globe. To support them visit www.rapidsar.org.uk

Sale goes on

TORRENTIAL rain failed to dampen the enthusiasm of a group of residents aiming to raise money for cancer research.

Residents of Downs Crescent, Haverhill, carried on with their garage and table top sale at the weekend and still managed to raise £35 for Cancer Research UK, despite the difficult weather conditions and the theft of a silver VW Beetle clock which had been donated.

Their fundraising efforts will continue on Monday when goods will be on sale from 9am to 2pm.

Crash inquest

AN INQUEST has been opened and adjourned into the death of motorbike rider Kevin Jones from Haverhill.

The 30-year-old from Hales Barn Road, Haverhill, died when his motorcycle was involved in a collision with a car on the B1106 from Brandon to Bury St Edmunds on Sunday, August 5.

A 46-year-old man from Bury St Edmunds was arrested on suspicion of causing death by dangerous driving after the crash and has been released on police bail until September.

Handbag theft

A HANDBAG was stolen from an unlocked car parked in a supermarket car park at Haverhill.

The bag was taken from a silver Mercedes in the car park at Sainsbury's in Haycocks Road, Haverhill, between 3pm and 3.30pm last Friday.

Anyone with information about the theft should call PC William Wright at the Haverhill North Safer Neighbourhood Team on (01284) 774 100 or Crimestoppers on 0800 555 111.

Flats break-in

A FLAT was broken into and cash stolen last Friday night.

The burglary took place in High Street, Haverhill, between 10.15pm and 10.45pm.

Anyone with information should call Pc Antony Orr at Haverhill police on (01284) 774 100.

Fencing bid

A LISTED building application to put up a 1.8m-high chain link fence and entrance gates in front of a paddock at Thornton House, Ashen Road, Clare, has been submitted to St Edmundsbury Borough Council.

Town ban for abusive ex-partner

A POLISH worker who subjected his former wife to violent attacks has been jailed and banned indefinitely from entering Haverhill.

Mariusz Kepka, who moved from his native Poland to the UK for a better life, was sentenced to two-and-a-half years imprisonment at Ipswich Crown Court on Tuesday after admitting charges of harassment, making threats to kill and false imprisonment.

But because the 38-year-old has already served nearly 400 days in custody awaiting his court appearance, he is expected to be freed within a matter of weeks.

Kepka, formerly of Dove House Road, Haverhill, was also made the subject of a restraining order by Judge Neil McKittrick, which bans him from entering Haverhill indefinitely.

Sentencing Kepka, Judge McKittrick told him that in the circumstances only a custodial term was appropriate, but declined to make a recommendation for deportation.

Kepka pleaded guilty to a charge of harassment between December 2004 and March 2006, two charges of making threats to kill in March last year and one charge of false imprisonment involving his former wife at an address in Haverhill, also last March.

Prosecutor Matthew Gowen said Kepka had married while living in Poland, but the relationship had been "punctuated with violence, aggression and jealousy" until the couple divorced.

Mr Gowen said that despite earlier problems with drinking and violent behaviour, Kepka managed to convince his former wife that he had changed his ways and persuaded her to join him in the UK.

Dreams of summer at day centre

A TOUCH of tropical sunshine brightened up a gloomy Monday for visitors to a day centre this week. Grass skirts and colourful hats were donned by visitors aged in their 70s, 80s and 90s during a Caribbean Day at the Greenfields Day Centre in Camps Road, Haverhill. They also enjoyed some Caribbean music and tucked into food at a barbecue. Joyce Mayes, one of those who attends the centre each Monday, said organiser Terri Jefferys, her husband and daughter, had gone to great lengths to decorate the centre, complete with balloons, parrots and palm trees. She said: "It was lovely. The place was all decorated up and there was a really happy atmosphere. "A lot of people have mobility problems and it cheered us all up, we all really enjoyed it."

■ From Page 1

Joyce was also told he must sign on the Sex Offenders' Register for 10 years. He was banned from working with children and is banned from approaching or coming into contact with anyone aged under 18, with the exception of members of his own family.

Joyce has also been banned from using a computer to access the internet. His own home computer has been confiscated.

Big plans from storage firm set to deliver jobs

■ BIG MOVE . . . a Culina Logistics lorry.

UP to 350 new jobs will be created next year when a leading national cold storage and delivery company opens a new distribution centre at Haverhill.

The huge new warehouse for Culina will be the company's fourth major distribution centre in the UK and almost equivalent to the size of seven football pitches at 191,000 sq ft (17,740 sq m).

A planning application has already been submitted to St Edmundsbury Borough Council to build it on a site at the Haverhill Business Park, just off the town's bypass.

The expansion is described by the company as part of a long-term strategic business development plan to meet the growing demand for its logistics services.

Email: editorial@haverhillweeklynews.co.uk

Established at Market Drayton, Shropshire, in 1994, Culina provides temperature-controlled storage and distribution for many of the leading chilled food and drink manufacturers in the UK.

The award-winning company has a turnover of more than £80 million and has grown significantly, opening major new facilities at Milton Keynes in 2001 and Staffordshire in 2006.

The new site will feature the latest state-of-the-art warehouse management system to constantly monitor and update stock levels.

Rien Brakel, managing director of Culina, said: "The new site continues our strategic business development plan to establish Culina as the market leader in high-quality chilled logistics services in the UK.

"We are delighted to be creating new jobs in the area. The location fits perfectly, as a large percentage of our clients' manufacturing facilities are based on the continent.

"It also enables us to manage deliveries in the south east of England more efficiently."

When the new site becomes fully operational in August 2008, Culina will then employ more than 1,100 people in the UK. The new warehouse will operate 24 hours a day, servicing up to 450 delivery points.

Hard work rewarded with record results

BY Jo Deeks

Email: editorial@haverhillweeklynews.co.uk

DELIGHTED students and their teachers were celebrating some record A-level results at Haverhill.

Results improved again at Castle Manor Business and Enterprise College, where 91 per cent of students achieved pass rates this year compared with 85.6 per cent in 2006. A total of 29 per cent received the top A and B grades. The results mark a 12-per-cent rise in points achieved per candidate, which is the same as the figure in national tables.

Madeleine Vigar, headteacher, said: "I am very pleased with these results which are a credit to the hard work of both students and staff at Castle Manor. These grades have exceeded the college's targets and indicate that our purposeful ethos and relentless focus on high quality learning and teaching is having a positive impact. The young people receiving these results today can look forward to a very bright future."

At Samuel Ward Arts and Technology College the overall pass rate was 98 per cent, a further improvement on last year and above the national average. A total of 40 per cent of the grades achieved were As or Bs. John Knighton, deputy head teacher, said they were an outstanding set of results, the best achieved for several years.

He said: "These are an extremely hard-working group of pupils who thoroughly deserve these excellent results. All students have got on to their chosen university courses. We are very pleased because everyone did as well, or in many cases better, than expected. We had some exceptional students with four As, but just as importantly a lot of students got better grades than expected, so everyone has done well. The AS results were also extremely good so we expect more good results next year."

Among the top achievers were: Jamie Tharby with 4 As, Kate Horner with three As and a B, and Richard Tasker with three As.

At Castle Manor, high achieving students included Jake Bennett, of Hanchett Village, Haverhill, who got three As and a B; and Sammi Efford, of Stoke by Clare, and Chris Burge of Lophams Close, Haverhill, who both got an A, two Bs and a C. Sixteen-year-old Alfie Allen, winner of the school's Apprentice competition, achieved an A grade in his AS English Literature exam, which he took a year early as well as sitting 11 GCSEs.

Jake said his family moved house just before his exams, leaving him to do a lot of last-minute studying. "I have no idea what I want to do, the more I look the wider it becomes. I was offered three university places, but did not accept any as I did not feel they were right for me. I will probably take a gap year, then decide."

Sammi, who is going to Worcester to study sociology and drama, said: "I am absolutely over the moon. I needed three Cs to get into uni, and I was hoping for a bit more, but I never dreamed I would do this well. This year has been really hard and I have done a lot of revision."

Chris Burge is off to Essex University to study law.

High-flying fun at kite session

YOUNGSTERS wanting to go fly a kite got their chance at a session held at the East Town Park in Haverhill.

Park rangers helped the six to 12 year olds to build colourful kites, test fly them around the park, then take them home for further kite flying fun.

The masterclass was one of a number of events taking place at the park in Coupals Road, Haverhill, during the summer holidays. The next, a pirates and buccaneers afternoon on Thursday, helps children use natural materials like wood and rope to survive walking the plank, "swamp things" and Captain Flint's adventure.

Booking is essential and for more information about this and other events in the park call (01284) 757 067.

GP budget cuts 'life threatening'

DOCTORS in Haverhill are launching a major campaign against swingeing cuts to their budget after receiving an "unsympathetic" response to protests so far.

Ann Sissons, practice manager at the Christmas Maltings surgery, which could be forced to axe two doctors' jobs if the £120,000 cut is made, said her "blood was boiling" after hearing the response of Carole Taylor-Brown, chief executive of the Suffolk NHS Primary Care Trust (PCT) to representations from MP Richard Spring.

Mrs Sissons said a major campaign to fight the cuts was being launched at a market stall in Haverhill on Saturday, September 8, when efforts would be made to get as many signatures as possible on a petition to be sent to the PCT.

Mrs Sissons will also write a personal letter to Prime Minister Gordon Brown on the issue because she feels so strongly about the unjust treatment that all doctors in Haverhill are receiving.

She was particularly angry about Carole Taylor-Brown's response to the suggestion that the practice could have to cut its current level of 80,000 appointments a year to 45,000. It said: "Practices are not funded on an appointments basis, and a correlation should not necessarily be drawn between practice funding and the number of appointments offered."

"A high level of appointments is not always an indicator of good practice in

BY Jo Deeks

Email: editorial@haverhillweeklynews.co.uk

isolation.

"Practices are advised to manage demand by encouraging patients to seek help from pharmacists, nurse practitioners, NHS Direct and others before opting for a GP appointment which is not always necessary or sustainable."

Mrs Sissons said: "We are going to fight this as hard as we possibly can: it is not just our practice, it affects everyone. This is the fastest growing town in Suffolk and there is no hospital, no X-ray facilities - everything comes to the GPs."

"There is a lot more that we would like to be doing - for family carers, and to tackle obesity - but all we will be doing is trying to explain to patients why they cannot have an appointment. That person could be a child with meningitis or a person who has found a lump and does not bother to come back. If we turn people away it can be life threatening."

MP Richard Spring said: "It is ridiculous that doctors should be penalised for offering an excellent service. I often get complaints about doctors from my constituents, but not about those at Haverhill."

The letter from Carole Taylor-Brown said doctors in Haverhill were funded at a higher level than others and the new funding formula was being phased in to make allocation fairer across Suffolk, taking into account socio-economic factors.

STEVIE-JAY

One year gone,

You were not just our daughter, our friend you were our world, our mind, heart and soul.

Your life, your future, your beauty stolen.
So many hopes and dreams you had, gone in a split second.
Why, we will never know, how someone as special as you, can be so cruelly taken from us.

You were loved and respected by so many people, some you didn't even know.
You lived life to the full and left gaps in so many peoples hearts.

You were not just 1 in a million, you were unique.
Your beauty came from within.

The way you looked, the things you did with style, with grace, with charm, because it came straight from your heart. What a delight and honour it was to have you for 17 short years. You taught us so much. You made us so very proud.
From the second you came into our lives, to the second you were stolen, there was always a special glow about you, truly an angel after all.

(Titch) is very brave and keeps a lot of her heartache to herself.
You'd be very proud of her, what a little beauty she is too.
Time will never be a healer, it's hard to live without you.

Until we find you again, sleep tight little angel of ours.

Love and worship you forever.

Mum, Dad and Shanice.
Night night, God bless. Love you Stevie-Jay.

Blues and boy band tunes

MUSIC from Take That and the Blues Brothers will follow in the footsteps of Queen, Abba and Elton John at the next Great Big Tribute Night in Haverhill's Market Square on Saturday.

The free event, starting at 8pm, follows on from the outstanding success of earlier events this month, promoted by Haverhill Town Council.

The renowned Bootleg Blues Brothers will be coming direct from their hit touring production, Sweet Home Chicago - The Blues Brothers. The pair take on the personas of Jake and Elwood to recapture the lunacy, music and the essence that is The Blues Brothers. In two 45-minute sets, audiences can enjoy all the hits from the film and much more.

Take This! featuring four talented young singers, are the UK's leading tribute to boy band Take That. Their fully choreographed show features all the hits, including It Only Takes A Minute, Girl, Relight My Fire, Babe and Patience.

The show highlights the different eras and looks of Take That.

Nick Keeble, arts and leisure manager with the town council said: "We are hoping for another fine evening to bring out the crowds for another free concert."

"The Blues Brothers' music always goes down well but this is the first time we have used a Take That tribute act. It should be fun."

Part of Camps Road will be closed between 7.30pm and 11.30pm to ensure the safety of those attending.

The evenings are sponsored by the town council as part of the Summer in Haverhill 2007 series and are free to attend.

Call for action on 'danger' pavement

BY Jo Deeks

Email: editorial@haverhillweeklynews.co.uk

RESIDENTS say a tree is threatening their children's safety – and two-year-old Joshua Mason has a bump on his head to prove it.

Joshua's mother, Jane says she has been battling for more than two months to get something done about the tree next to her family's home at Shepherds Court, Haverhill. She said roots have grown so big they are breaking up the paving slabs, creating an uneven surface. Sap from the tree also makes the ground beneath it slippery.

Mrs Mason said the conditions were most dangerous at night because the tree blocks out light from the street light and people passing by cannot see where they are walking.

She said: "The tree is so overgrown it is lifting up the paving slabs and the children keep tripping up so they cannot play out there."

"Someone was supposed to be coming out to look at it, but no-one has been. Joshua tripped over and got a big bump on his head and I have slipped over out there myself."

"I also have a four-year-old and my neighbour has twins and a four-year-old who cannot play out there either, and we think it is about time they did something about it.

"I have phoned up several times, but nobody wants to know, they just keep passing it from one council to another. We have even had to cut the branches back ourselves just to walk past it."

A spokesman for Suffolk County Council said staff were not aware of the problem, but were concerned and would investigate.

Driver robs walker

A MAN walking along a road was robbed by a driver who stopped his car then threatened him and demanded his wallet.

The man handed it over after the confrontation in Cavendish Road, Clare, at around 1.45am on Saturday, August 11.

The robber was driving a black or dark blue old-style Ford Fiesta. He is described as white, around 25 years old, over six ft tall and was wearing a dark coloured hooded top. Anyone with information about the incident should call DC Rachel Johnson at Haverhill CID on (01284) 774 100 or Crimestoppers on 0800 555 111.

Plans for extension

REVISED plans to build a single storey extension at the back of Hundon Grange, Hundon, are the subject of a listed building application to St Edmundsbury Borough Council.

Firms line up for debate on road charges

BUSINESSES are queuing up to take part in a special debate about Cambridge's proposed congestion charge.

The event, set for Monday, September 17, is open to all members of the Cambridge Chamber of Commerce and the Federation of Small Businesses.

A chamber spokeswoman said there had been an "unprecedented" response from businesses who wanted to be represented at the meeting. Many fear the charge will place a huge financial burden on staff, forcing them to find jobs elsewhere.

She said: "The topic is currently at the forefront of debate by so many businesses and people in our community, and we expect between 150 and 200 representatives will be coming along.

"It will take the form of an informed debate to consider all views as to whether congestion charging would be either a catastrophe or a cure and consider the practical implementation and operation of such a scheme.

"We are very pleased that senior councillors and officers from the county council will be attending to present their reasoning for the planned introduction of congestion charging and supporting their view that this will be a cure."

BY Chris Elliott

Email: editorial@haverhillweeklynews.co.uk

The spokeswoman added: "In addition, we will also have the opportunity to objectively hear why others believe that this could well turn into a catastrophe.

"We will be able to listen to a variety of views and also debate the relative merits of what is being proposed."

She said many of the businesses involved were against the introduction of the charge for driving into the city, which the council proposes could be up to £5 a day.

"Some, however, are also in favour of it," she added.

A detailed programme for the debate, which will be chaired by Prof Walter Herriot OBE, the managing director of the city's St John's Innovation Centre, is now being finalised and will be published soon.

The debate will be held at the De Vere University Arms Hotel in Regent Street, Cambridge, from 6pm to 8pm.

More information is available by contacting Maria Briggs at the Cambridgeshire Chambers of Commerce, at m.briggs@cambscci.co.uk by calling (01223) 209 817, or visiting www.cambridgeshirechamber.co.uk

Arty arrangements help show bloom

FABULOUS flower arrangements blossomed in Haverhill Arts Centre for a floral art contest organisers said was their best yet. Coun Les Ager, deputy town mayor of Haverhill, cut the ribbon to officially open the two-day show, held at the centre for the first time this year. Haverhill and District Flower Club organised the competition on behalf of the Haverhill in Bloom Committee and a record number of 18 exhibitors put forward displays to be judged by Judy Wynn, an accredited judge at the National Association of Flower Arranging Societies.

Winners were: Class 1 – A Touch of Sunshine, first place Pat Hunnisett, second Sylvia Perrett, third Elva King; Class 2 – Fantasy, first Valerie Phillips, second Dot Robertson, third Sue Hilson, very highly commended Sue Street, highly commended Stephanie Hope and Pat Hammond.

Class 3 – Millinery Extravaganza, first Valerie Phillips, second June Richardson, third Paola Glynos, very highly commended Angela Cross, highly commended Beryl Kearsley.

Class 4 – Around the World, first Stamima Hasan, second Norma Blick, third Valerie Phillips, very highly commended Beryl Kearsley, highly commended – Pam Windybank. The overall competition winner will not be revealed until the Haverhill in Bloom awards night to be held at Haverhill Golf Club on September 27 at 7.30pm.

Sheila Gray, chairman of the club, said many more visitors were attracted to the new venue and it was hoped the competition would now become an established annual event. She said: "I am very proud of everyone who took part, it was a stunning show, really brilliant."

Hospital set to go green

A NEW combined heat and power unit will save a hospital £200,000 a year on energy bills and reduce its carbon emissions.

The Department of Health funded generator will provide about two thirds of West Suffolk Hospital's electricity and 50 per cent of its heat.

Work on the project will start this month now the hospital's bid for £906,000 from the Government's green energy pot for NHS organisations has been successful.

Ian Stuchbury, the trust's estates manager who led the bid, said: "It is a win-win situation. We can do a little bit for the environment by reducing our carbon emissions, as well as cutting our own costs. Another advantage is that the new combined heat and power plant will also act as a third standby generator, providing security of supply in the event of a mains power failure."

The generator could be up and running by December. Its installation is the first phase of a two-part plan to improve the hospital's energy efficiency.

A further bid to the Department of Health for £300,000 to upgrade the hospital's ageing boiler controls and heating system will be submitted soon.

Crash drama all in a good cause

FIREFIGHTERS dramatically rescued crash victims from their vehicles in Haverhill's town centre last week – but only to demonstrate the techniques they use in a real accident. Shoppers at Haverhill Market Square watched two road crash demonstrations staged by Suffolk Fire Service who cut passengers out of vehicles as they would in a real situation. The demonstrations are being shown across the county to encourage safer driving and reduce accidents.

Survey backs centre cinema

STAFF members at Haverhill Arts Centre were bowled over by the response to their recent cinema questionnaire, receiving nearly 500 completed forms.

The majority of people who took part in the survey said they would still use the centre's cinema after the town's new multi-screen complex opens next year.

Deputy mayor Coun Les Ager, randomly selected six winners who will each receive two complimentary cinema tickets. They are: Mrs S Gonzalez Ruiz, Haverhill; Dr D Hill, Calford Green, Kedington; Mrs A Kiddy, Great Bradley; Mr P R Lister, Wickhambrook; Mrs J Baker, Steeple Bumpstead and Mrs M Woodley, Haverhill.

The staff at the centre would like to thank everyone who helped with the research.

Mountain charity bid for biker Maria

BY Jo Deeks

Email: editorial@haverhillweeklynews.co.uk

ADVENTUROUS motor biker Maria Leys will be helping to bury a time capsule in the Atlas mountains when she takes part in a charity ride across Morocco in October.

Maria, of Recreation Road, Haverhill, will be riding a 107cc Monkeybike with the charity Monkeyrocco. Those taking part will bury a time box in the Atlas mountains with the names of loved ones who have lost their lives to cancer and others still fighting the terrible illness.

The man who started the charity lost his mother to cancer and as her favourite animal was the monkey, the charity ride was named Monkeyrocco.

Maria, 48, who has completed several other charity rides in ■ ADVENTURE . . . Maria Leys hopes to raise money for cancer research. CP.

rough terrain in the past, including a trip to Ecuador last year and another to Machu Picchu, in Peru, would like to hear from anyone who wants to make a donation to the event and have someone's name included in the time box.

She said: "I am a single lady, so I can go off and do these trips when I like. There are roads, but it will be quite rough through the mountains."

"We will only be doing about 150 miles a day, which is not that far, but it is on these little monkey bikes, so it will probably take us about eight hours riding each day."

"I am happy to pay the £500 for the trip myself, so that will go straight to cancer research, but if anyone would like to have names put in the time box or local firms would like to have their name on the pick-up truck I would be glad to hear from them."

Maria works as a respite carer and enjoys the freedom that riding her motorbike gives her in her spare time.

Anyone who would like to sponsor her can ring 07960 245535 or visit the website www.monkeyrocco.co.uk

The offender is described as male, 5ft 10in tall, and was wearing a black hooded top, light coloured jeans and a cap. Anyone with information should call Dc Ali Sandberg at Bury CID on 01284 774 100 or Crimestoppers on 0800 555 111.

Fun returns as new play centre prepares to open

BY Jo Deeks

Email: editorial@haverhillweeklynews.co.uk

BOOMERANGS are coming to town – not the bendy bits of wood, but a place where kids and their parents can enjoy themselves.

The new Boomerangs Play Zone is due to open at Boundary Road, Haverhill, on Wednesday, September 5, with a massive area of just under 10,000 sq ft devoted to play activities for up to 200 children, as well as healthy food for the whole family.

There is a huge high climbing frame, as well as a separate baby area.

Opening the business is the end of a frustrating four-year battle for husband and wife and business partners Andy and Donna Anderson, who have been looking at various buildings before finding the one in Boundary Road. They believe there is a call for it in the town and that it will draw in families from a wide surrounding area.

Andy said: "We know we are going to be busy, with huge interest shown for birthday parties already. There is nothing else like this around here, you have got to go to Braintree or further. It has taken a long while to get going, but we are making sure everything is done properly."

"We will not be cooking anything in a deep-fat fryer. We will only be serving healthy food, such as salads, pasta dishes, jacket potatoes, baguettes, panninis and freshly prepared children's meals. All our food will be freshly prepared on the premises by our chef."

He added: "Twin coded wristbands will be issued to all children and adults to ensure that children leave the building with the correct adult. There are three party rooms for the children to enjoy their food in, decorated with fairytale characters, jungle animals and hungry dinosaurs."

"Eventually football and disco themed party rooms will be introduced, and there is a soft play football and basketball pitch that, in the future, will have coaching sessions for these sports."

Boomerangs will be open seven days a week, from 10am to 6pm Monday to Thursday, 10am to 8pm Friday and Saturday and 10am to 4pm Sunday.

For more information, ring (01440) 707 523.

Stand up for foot care

A MAJOR campaign to save foot care services for older people is being launched and organisers want to hear from those affected by changes to the services offered by the NHS.

Age Concern has launched the campaign because it believes lack of foot care services, such as toe nail cutting and unacceptably long waiting times to treat people with serious foot conditions are leaving many older people with the choice of going private or going without.

Anyone who feels their quality of life is being affected by a lack of foot care, or who is on a waiting list to see an NHS chiropodist, facing the choice of going private or going without or who has problems caring for their feet is asked to contact the group.

Anyone who has a story about their experience of chiropody is being urged to share it with Age Concern. The group hopes to use real-life examples to raise public awareness and challenge Government policy and primary care trusts to improve foot care services.

Careful planning

PLANS have been submitted to build a single storey extension for a previously approved care home.

The proposal, to house plant room equipment on land north of Apple Acre Road, and bounded by Haycocks Road and Brynbank Road (Site A) and land to the south of Apple Acre Road but north of Sparrow Close (Site B), at Hanchett End, Haverhill, has been submitted to St Edmundsbury Borough Council.

Chance to share the fruits of your labour at plant-swap

The judges have now finished their work for this year's best town centre, best industrial frontage and best school awards in the Haverhill in Bloom contest. They have been very encouraged by the range of businesses and schools that have spent, quite obviously, time and effort bringing colour and wildlife to their particular area, while also looking at and creating recycling themes including ecological initiatives. Well done to all of them for entering their category. The companies who have been nominated for an award this year are: STP Stationery, General Metal Construction and Wood 'n' Stuff. Retailers nominated are: The Bell, TVL Video, The Queen's Head and The Woolpack. Schools nominated are: Place Farm and Castle Hill Middle. These, along with the nominations from the floral art competition held earlier this month, will be invited to an awards evening next month.

IN this month's column, Haverhill in Bloom committee chairman Tim Radford gives an update on the judges' progress and encourages the unsung heroes of garden and allotment to share their success at the Gardeners' Market.

■ We have had a few enquiries regarding the plant-swap table and the local produce area at the forthcoming Gardeners' Market in October. We believe this could be the start of something unique. The plant-swap table is simply that – bring your plant along and swap it for someone else's for free. We are working towards having a keen gardener on hand who can give advice on your chosen swap. The local produce area is for home-grown fruit and vegetables, including preserves made from home-grown fruit. We hope that some of the previously unmentioned allotment holders and garden growers will have bumper crops and will be willing to share their success on the day. There may well be a little impromptu judging on the day. We already have the heaviest pumpkin competition and we could easily have a largest marrow, ugliest carrot, biggest tomato, longest runner bean, fattest turnip and reddest apple contest. Bring your home produce, either to sell or just display. This category will be open to all ages, with prizes being awarded on the day. For further details phone (01440) 707 922, or go to www.haverhillinbloom.org.uk

Solo outing at gallery for separation artist

THE unique chromatography paintings of Shazia Mahmood will be featured in a new solo exhibition at Cambridge Contemporary Art Gallery on Trinity Street next month. After studying fine art at Winchester School of Art, Shazia has devoted much of her time to exploring a painting technique based on chromatography – the separation of colours on canvas. She has worked mainly around the Scottish Western Isles after being inspired by the changing weather conditions she found there, but recently she has begun to work on the East Anglian landscape. The exhibition, Shazia's second at the gallery, opens on September 7 and runs until September 30.

Private lives revealed for company's debut

By Nik Shelton

A NEW theatre company will step on stage in Cambridge this month with a debut production of the Noel Coward favourite, Private Lives.

Eulalie Productions is staging the classic romantic comedy from next week until early September in the open air setting of Robinson College gardens.

The story follows divorced couple Elyot and Amanda, who meet up several years after their rocky marriage has ended. While honeymooning with their new spouses, Sibyl and Victor, they find they have adjoining balconies. All the old disagreements are resurrected, but they also find that their feelings for each other are still alive.

Cambridge-born Viola Newbury heads up the cast who have formed the ambitious new company to produce works for stage and screen.

"We're a group of actors who all met while performing in London productions and we came up with the idea of putting on theatre and also branching out into film and TV," she said.

"Some people in the company have done a lot of film work and others have done more theatre, but we're all actors and we don't know anything about booking venues and sourcing props and scenery and writing press releases and things like that, so it's very daunting.

"You learn a lot from drama school but there're also lots you don't learn until you do it yourself.

We've got a TV pilot we're writing, which is due to go into production, and that's a very different thing from this. It's really early days but we've done amazing things so far in such a short space of time."

Private Lives is renowned in the acting world for having some of the best dialogue ever written, and is regarded as Coward's defining contribution to theatre. And the Cambridge show is just the beginning as the company are already planning to return again next summer.

Private Lives runs from Tuesday until Saturday, September 8. Performances are at 7.30pm except Sundays which are 5pm. Saturday matinee on September 1 starts at 2pm. Tickets are £10-£14. To book call (01223) 357851.

■ FOLK TUNES . . . from Lionshare, who will be one of the bands playing at this weekend's Palimpsest Festival. CP.

Experiments with folk

THERE'LL be some strange goings on at All Saints Church on Jesus Lane in Cambridge on Saturday. The Palimpsest Festival is billed as a day of "outsider folk sounds" and features a mix of the experimental and the traditional. The festival attracts both those who are familiar with the underground psychedelia and folk movements as well as those who are willing to open their ears and minds to some music which they are unlikely to hear anywhere else. "The word Palimpsest means any manuscript or tablet which has been written on and also has older text which has been rubbed off but is still slightly visible," explained organiser Simon Loynes, who will also be performing with his band, Lionshare. "It refers to the music – it's new but it has reference points in the past which you can hear." The line-up includes sonic adventurers Vibracathedral Orchestra, who have been at the forefront of the UK free rock scene since the late 1990s, reclusive and highly prolific musician Richard Youngs and Finnish collective Kemiälliset Ystävät. The festival takes place from 2pm to 11pm. Tickets are £15 in advance and £18 on the door. Visit www.palimpsest-festival.co.uk

Renovated home with fine views

THIS exceptional period house is in the pleasant hamlet of Calford Green, between the villages of Sturmer and Kedington.

The property, which is on the market for £665,000, has been comprehensively renovated throughout, and is set on a plot of nearly two acres with wonderful countryside views.

The light and comfortable accommodation includes a hall, cloakroom, sitting room, dining room, kitchen, utility room, drawing room, master bedroom with en suite shower room, three further bedrooms and a bathroom.

Outside there is a shingled parking and turning area at the front, which leads to a detached garage and timber outbuilding. The main gardens that surround the property are predominantly lawned and lead to a grassed horse paddock.

Viewing is by arrangement through Cheffins on (01440) 707076.

So what exactly is off-setting?

OFF-SETTING has always suffered from a lack of understanding due to its perceived complicated nature, writes Nigel Lambert-Jones. But in recent times we have seen lenders such as Intelligent Finance, which specialise in this area, promote a greater understanding of off-set mortgage products.

This seems to be paying off, with statistics from the Council of Mortgage Lenders showing the sector grew by 49 per cent last year, and it is estimated there are now around 250 off-set mortgage products to choose from.

Off-setting is a relatively simple idea: the cash in your savings and current accounts can be set against your mortgage debt, effectively lowering this debt so you only pay interest on what's left.

However, mortgage repayments are calculated on the full debt before your savings are applied, so you are essentially overpaying on your mortgage every month. This means you pay off your mortgage much faster, potentially taking years off your mortgage term.

You also maintain full access to the money in your savings and current accounts as normal – it's just that now your money is working harder for you.

As your savings usually attract a lower interest rate in a separate account to that of your mortgage, you are also enjoying this same rate. Naturally, as the savings element of this type of mortgage is being off-set, your savings have no interest added. This could benefit higher-rate taxpayers as if you are not getting interest on your savings, you are not liable to higher-rate tax on it.

So for example, if you have a £100,000 mortgage and £10,000 in savings, by off-setting these savings you would only be paying interest on £90,000 of the £100,000 mortgage.

The difference between the two is then applied as an overpayment, meaning you pay off your mortgage quicker, and on a 25-year mortgage the difference can sometimes be staggering.

It is estimated that off-setting is usually best for those that have savings worth at least 8 per cent of their overall mortgage value.

However, current thinking is that they are also useful for anybody that gets paid large bonuses or commissions, as you can then have these paid into your current account along with your monthly wage and still have them effectively off-set against your mortgage. Off-set mortgages are also flexible: they allow overpayments and, providing you've overpaid enough to earn them, you can also take payment holidays. There are even some mortgage lenders who now have family off-sets that allow a parent to off-set their savings against their child's mortgage to help them get on to the property ladder.

There is, of course, a downside. Due to their flexible nature, off-set mortgages attract a slightly higher interest rate than what you could expect to achieve on a prime mortgage "best buy".

Additionally, the savings you use to off-set against your mortgage don't earn interest. But for many people who have a decent level of savings, these negatives are an acceptable side-effect of the flexibility and potentially shorter terms they can enjoy.

Corsa VXR passes Calippo test

A CLEAR blue sky and a long road beckoned my colleague and I as we took the new Corsa VXR out for spin. Half an hour later, we had a flat tyre, no spare – just an inflation kit – and two hot-hatch shaped chips on our shoulders.

Having gone from love to hate in 60 seconds, I must admit that my driving and a large kerb were really at fault for the relationship breakdown. Still, a car with no spare meant two girls at the mercy of kindly – or not so kindly – neighbours.

Sitting in the Corsa waiting for the AA we made “vroom-vroom” noises in an effort to conjure up our initial enthusiasm.

Luckily there is a touch of the “sporty armchair” about the Recaro seats, so we were happy to sit back and watch the world go by.

Although normally I find overly-styled cars a little nauseating, for some reason the Corsa VXR really appealed. While some may not appreciate it, I loved the self-conscious stylistic detail.

Also, with a large front cabin and lots of handy storage spaces, the Corsa offers a practical drive. Throwing our handbags in the back we spread out luxuriously while zooming down the motorway – or more accurately, slurping Calippos on someone else's drive.

With time to inspect the cabin, we discovered that the further you go back, the smaller the Corsa becomes. With just enough room for a microwave and a DVD player in the boot don't invite any friends along if you're going camping.

Although a small car, this is not a light vehicle and I began to find the Corsa's weighty frame something of a burden. The problem was largely emphasised by the amount of time we spent using her as a lounge, rather than a means of transport.

To cut a long story short, Mick the AA man eventually arrived. And as my colleague swooned (and hugged him twice) we could see an end in sight. Less Thelma and Louise, more Sarah and Louise!

After a three day wait for the Corsa's special tyres, I was back on the road and wrestling with the tight, sporty gears in an effort to glide rather than bunny-hop out of the car park. Although this car can go 0-60 in eight seconds, it would take a much more competent driver than me to do it.

This is definitely a car which needs to be driven. Once out on the road the performance is terrific. Sublimely powerful, with sharp handling and a powerful engine, you feel like the queen of the road. However, negotiating traffic around Staples Corner, you need to concentrate. I found it a little disconcerting not to be able to see out the back windows due to the large seats and body design.

For once, the overly excitable, trendy designers hadn't messed around with the control panel. The dials were easy to read and fairly intuitive – and it comes with an MP3 socket.

For me, this is a car too far. However, for drivers who like to “handle” their cars and leave others in the dust, the Corsa VXR would be a dream to own.

Mini unveils its latest Challenge

MINI performance is to be taken to new levels with the new Mini John Cooper Works Challenge, a Mini Cooper S built specifically for track use and ready to race.

Set for its first public appearance at the forthcoming Frankfurt Motor Show, deliveries of the new car will take place from spring 2008.

The key changes to the car include a higher top speed, increased torque, faster acceleration and improved grip. Considering the standard Cooper S is a hoot to drive, the track version is likely to be fantastic.

With power up to 210bhp from 175, the 0-62 time has been dropped by a second to 6.1 seconds. The top speed has been increased to 149mph and the torque reaches 191lb/ft with “overboost”.

The Mini's legendary handling has been improved further with tweaks to the chassis and suspension to create a race tuned package with many components designed specifically for motorsport. The Dunlop tyres are unique to the series and, of course, are track legal only.

■ TRACK USE ONLY... this Mini comes with specially designed race-spec Dunlop tyres.

The changes aren't just under the skin though and the aerodynamics have been modified, creating a distinctly racy look. The changes aren't just cosmetic but have been designed to give more downforce at racing speeds. Challenge owners get a new adjustable rear spoiler, a rear diffuser and front splitter to give extra grip and huge brake discs will bring the car to a standstill from 62mph in just 3.1 seconds. On top of all that, the weight has been reduced to 30kg less than the previous challenge car.

It must be noted that the car is not road legal and is only for track use, but with the Mini Challenge series becoming ever more popular in a host of countries across the world, there is likely to be no shortage of buyers. Those who are entered into the race series will receive their cars from March onwards. Private customers can expect deliveries from June.

Whether you are a track day enthusiast or a club racer the price, which is under £34,000, will be very tempting.

Visit www.mini.com/challenge-car for details.

■ MINI COOPER CHALLENGE... not your average Mini interior, with lots of racing features.

■ THE AVEO . . . debut at Frankfurt next month, UK launch early next year.

FOLLOWING on from the Captiva SUV, Chevrolet has unveiled its latest car. The Aveo supermini will get its public debut at the influential Frankfurt Motor Show in September. Sporting a bold grille and its maker's distinctive bow-tie badge, bosses hope this new model will help continue the company's already rapid expansion in Europe. Inside, the Aveo has a completely new, high-class cabin, with soft-touch quality plastics and improved fabrics throughout. Two engines will be offered at launch – a new fuel-efficient 1.2-litre unit developing 84 horsepower, and a 98 horsepower 1.4-litre powerplant, which will be available with automatic transmission. It's an important car for Chevy, which is looking for a winner to make a mark in the key European market. Sales of the new model are scheduled to begin in spring 2008.

Santa Fe makes a big return

THE WRITING was on the wall as soon as Hyundai launched the Tucson compact 4x4, writes Andy Enright.

Put bluntly, their existing Santa Fe model had lost its reason to live. Marginalised by its better looking, younger and more affordable sibling, Hyundai did everything they could to keep the Santa Fe on life support, throwing a whole bunch of extra equipment into the deal but its days were numbered.

What was really needed was a bigger, smarter and altogether more imposing Santa Fe that could take the Korean company into new territory. Something like the vehicle we have before us here then.

Bigger than its predecessor, it also tones down that car's rather controversial styling with more conventional, but still distinctively Hyundai, lines. The rising waistline is the most obvious change, giving the Santa Fe a more athletic stance, and the rear end is particularly shapely for a vehicle of this type, with well integrated tail lights and a deep rear window. There is still some evidence of the sculpted flanks that proved so controversial on the original Santa Fe, but this design feature is now integrated far more elegantly into the wheel arches and the swage line that runs from the top of the tail lamps to form a distinct 'shoulder'. The front lights are significantly larger and more rakishly swept back onto the front wing and bonnet while the grille is narrower and deeper, giving the Santa Fe a more imperious – and expensive – look.

Although we've highlighted the improvements in exterior design over the original car, it's worth a short pause to consider the success that car enjoyed. Launched at the Detroit Show in 1999, the original Santa Fe provided a cost-effective alternative to a cast of usual suspects that were rapidly growing both in terms of size and price.

Back in 1999 the range-topping Toyota RAV4, for instance, would have set you back £20,345. Now the RAV4 flagship model commands well over £27,000. Small wonder that Hyundai saw an opportunity and was rewarded with over 100,000 cars sold. As with most sectors of the car market, successive generations of 'compact' 4x4s get bigger and pricier and the Tucson has slotted in beneath the Santa Fe, allowing it to push a little further upmarket.

These aspirations are all well and good, but unless you've got the hardware to cut it, sales can rapidly tail off. Hyundai has a pair of engines to give the Santa Fe's chances a power-up. The big seller will be the 2.2-litre CRDi diesel with 148bhp that has a good deal more about it than the 115bhp common-rail fitted to the old Santa Fe. Fitted with a variable geometry turbocharger, the diesel engine develops 335Nm between 1,800 and 2,500rpm and, like most modern engines, not only offers more power but also improves on the fuel consumption figures of its predecessor.

This is due to a more efficient common-rail injection system that also reduces noise, vibration and harshness (NVH). The 2.7-litre petrol unit develops 186bhp and utilises Constantly Variable Valve Technology and a Variable Intake System which combine to offer excellent power and torque delivery across a wide range of engine speeds.

There's little doubt that these changes lift the Santa Fe onto a whole different plane in terms of sophistication and desirability. Whether it'll be enough to make a splash in a market that's become a savage feeding frenzy amongst the major manufacturers remains to be seen but from here the omens look good.

Great deals on Vauxhall cars

DRIVE VAUXHALL was established in 2003 by Paul Manning and Steve Bessex following a result of a management buy out of nine Arriva Vauxhall dealerships, one Kawasaki dealership and its trade and retail accessories division.

The dealership has continued to develop steadily with nine branches in total covering the UK, with Drive, Haverhill being the closest Cambridgeshire site.

Since the arrival of business manager, Ian Stackman and branch manager Jeff Pym from Drives' successful Bury branch, Drive, Haverhill has well and truly stamped its authority on the volume franchise market. With a combined 18 years of experience, they bring a wealth of knowledge to help propel the Haverhill branch forward.

With new registration approaching on September 1, Drive has raised the bar, with offers that would tempt even the most apprehensive of tyre kicker. Offering 0 per cent finance available across the whole range is surely enough to make people sit up and take notice.

Following the awaited arrival of the New 4x4 Vauxhall Antara in July, Vauxhall has a comprehensive range that can satisfy all tastes. Along with its affordable price tag, neat styling and impressive build quality, Drive offer customers the opportunity to gain a further £750 off the New Antara when purchased before the end of September.

■ TEAM EFFORT . . . staff from Drive Vauxhall in Haverhill.

The New Corsa was unveiled earlier this year, boasting a smarter, prettier and a far more sophisticated approach. Vauxhall now has a supermini to rival the very best in a cut throat market and with all Drive branches offering free insurance for the first year, the Vauxhall Corsa is an inviting purchase.

The New Corsa is not the only car in the range to tantalise customers by offering one year free insurance – as the Astra has now joined the fold. In recent years the Astra was always thought of as slightly mediocre and its dullness was frequently shown up by the Ford Focus. However, the new Astra boasts a host of improvements to frighten and put many rivals on the back foot.

Pym said: "Due to our unique buying power, we offer customers the chance to save up to £4,500 on each car."

"It's been our company policy for years not to be beaten on price, therefore every customer is guaranteed value for money as well as impeccable customer service."

Vauxhall was proudly the first car manufacturer in the UK to introduce unleaded fuel across its entire range and the eco-friendly view has not stopped there. It has recently launched the new Eco-Flex initiative to help tackle and remove the common site of the stereotypical "banger" emitting choking exhaust fumes into the atmosphere. Vauxhall will offer a £1,000 bonus for anyone trading in a car which is then scrapped in exchange for the lowest emission versions of the Corsa, Meriva, Astra and Zafira.

So in the words of arguably the most irritating but slightly humorous advert this year, "C'MON!" Be sure your fun starts this September when new registration arrives.

CRICKET ROUND-UP

Promotion delight for victorious Haverhill

HAVERHILL are celebrating a second successive promotion following their 22-run victory at Brockley.

They will begin life in Division Two of the Marshall Hatchick Two Counties Championship next year after ensuring a top-two finish.

Adam Dellar hit 70 and was well supported by Greg Street (55 not out) and captain Rob Sullivan (37) as Haverhill made 237 for 9. Dellar claimed 3 for 77 as Brockley were dismissed for 215.

Sullivan said: "Our primary aim was to get promoted this season and we've been working really hard to do that."

"We're a really experienced side with a sprinkling of youngsters, but what we need to do is bring in a couple of seasoned cricketers in their mid-20s so that we're competitive in Division Two."

■ The club's promotion celebrations will be made extra special with a visit from a star-studded Lashings Cricket Club line-up today (Thursday).

The world-famous club will be bringing the likes of former West Indies skipper Richie Richardson, ex-Zimbabwe bowler Henry Olonga, former New Zealand all-rounder Chris Cairns, ex-Australia batsman Greg Blewett and former Pakistan wicketkeeper Rashid Latif to Manor Road for the all-ticket game, which starts at 2pm.

■ PROUD . . . Haverhill skipper Rob Sullivan, who has paid tribute to his side after their second successive promotion.

Thurlow wait on league's decision

THURLOW could find themselves in hot water after breaking league rules on their way to their latest victory in Division 2SB of the Stumps & Studs CCA Junior League on Saturday.

The champions-elect, who have not lost this season, declared on 220 for 2 against Thriplow II before dismissing their opponents for 100 just before the rain came down. However, declarations are prohibited by CCA rules, so league officials will have to decide whether the result will stand.

Keith Donno (59) and Martin Farrant (56) put on a 129 opening-wicket stand for Thurlow, before Bryce Hurrell (32 not out) and Martin Buckner (40 not out) added to the total. Carl Muller then undermined the Thriplow reply with three wickets for 10 runs in a seven-over spell. Also in Division 2SB, Weston Colville II were beaten by five wickets by an Elmdon side, which is continuing a fine run of form.

Melvin Reeves (4 for 10) and Angus Dixon (3 for 11) took the wickets for Elmdon, before they eased their way home at 91 for 5.

■ MICK KETTERIDGE . . . His five-wicket haul was all in vain as Horseheath slumped to defeat.

Horseheath's bad day ends in heavy loss

L A C K - L U S T R E Horseheath suffered a comprehensive 150-run defeat against a visiting Foxton team, who kept the pressure on for the Cheffins CCA Senior League, Division One crown and solitary promotion spot.

The visitors batted first and Lawrence Farnum smacked 73, while captain Patrick Joseph hit 40 and Paul Dean 35 as Foxton, who are just four-hundredths of a point behind St Ives on the averages, pummelled their way to 248 for 9, despite Mick Ketteridge's heroics in taking 5 for 45.

Ketteridge's effort was as good as it got for the hosts as they were sent packing for just 98 with Joseph grabbing 6 for 30.

Gary Ellis, the Horseheath skipper, felt it was his side's worst display for five years.

He said: "We got stuffed. Nobody turned up as such and we dropped nine catches, which is very unlike us as that's a better part of our game."

"If we'd been going for the league or trying to avoid getting relegated it might have been different but it was one of those end-of-season games for us."

Foxton player-manager Matt Gray said: "It was a good all-round performance because it's a tricky place to go, but I just think we completely outplayed them. We got a good score on a wet and slow outfield and we managed to win the game 10 minutes before the rain came."

■ Weston Colville's Tucker Gardner Cambs and Hunts Premier League, Division Two, match at Yaxley on Saturday was called off due to the weather.

FOOTBALL

Heller's strike is a Cup of delight

RICHARD Heller popped up with a late winner for Haverhill Rovers who rekindled their love affair with the FA Cup at Bourne, coming from 2-1 down to reach the next round.

There must have been a high level of expectation on Steve Taylor's side after they reached the final qualifying round last term before finally being put out by Nationwide Conference side Aldershot.

And things looked to have got off to a good start when the visited the Abbey Lawn on Saturday as Paul Stokes got on the end of a poor clearance by the home defence to fire Rovers into a 13th-minute lead.

But United Counties League side Bourne hit back to equalise with their first attack on 18 minutes and took the lead with their second forward move three minutes later.

Marc Abbott restored

Bourne Town 2 Haverhill Rovers 3

FA CUP, EXTRA PRELIMINARY ROUND

parity for the visitors with a stunning 25-yard volley on 61 minutes.

Just when it looked as if the game was heading towards a replay, Heller managed to get on the end of substitute Ryan Kent's flick to head home the third Haverhill goal with just four minutes left on the clock.

Haverhill's prize for the victory is a trip to near-neighbours Stowmarket Town in the preliminary round on Saturday, September 1.

Rovers: Benstead, Pilcher, Goddard, Heller (Holder), Farrington, Harvey, M Abbott, Hunt, Salmons (Banham), Stokes (Kent), Palazon. Subs not used: P Abbott, Thomas.

■ Rovers return to Ridges League, Premier Division, action on Saturday when they put their unbeaten record on the line as reigning champions Wroxham visit Hamlet Croft.

■ RICHARD HELLER . . . Nabbed Haverhill's late winner at Bourne on Saturday.
